What is NASA? by Sarah Fabiny
A young reader's history of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) describes its 1958 creation, the space race that inspired the Apollo program, and the missions and discoveries that have taken place since the first lunar landing.

My little golden book about the first moon landing by Chip Lovitt Recounts the Apollo 11 mission to the moon and why it was an important event.
Marty's mission: an Apollo 11 story
by Judy Young
A series that examines the Red Planet's physical characteristics considers how its mythology over the centuries has affected popular culture in books and films, and covers the major spacecraft missions that have been sent to Mars as well as NASA's future plans to send humans to the mysterious planet.

The weight of the stars
by Kayla Ancrum
After a horrific accident brings loners Ryann and Alexandria together, Ryann learns that Alexandria's mother is an astronaut who volunteered for a one-way trip to the edge of the solar system.

Infinite wonder: an astronaut's photographs from a year in space
by Scott Kelly
A record-breaking astronaut, national hero and best-selling author of Endurance, who mastered the rare art of microgravity photography, presents a stunning collection of photos documenting his journey on the International Space Station.

Galaxy girls: 50 amazing stories of women in space
by Libby Jackson
Celebrates the achievements of extraordinary women from diverse world regions whose work has been fundamental to the story of spaceflight, from Hidden Figures's Mary Jackson and Katherine Johnson to former NASA Chief Astronaut Peggy Whitson.

How to live in space: everything you need to know for the not-so-distant future
by Colin Stuart
How do you sleep in microgravity? How do you grow food without water? Will your muscles waste away out there? How do you protect yourself from radiation? This is a light-hearted yet informative guide to a life far from terra firma.

Chasing space
by Leland Melvin
A memoir by the former NASA astronaut and NFL wide receiver traces his personal journey from the gridiron to the stars, examining the intersecting roles of community, perseverance, and grace.